

Alan Pham

EXAMPLE ONLY. NO CLIENT DATA.

One follow-up email cleanup

Input: one stuck follow-up, last reply, or rough draft. Output: subject plus one sendable email.

Rough context

sent quote last week
they said budget looked ok
needed to ask partner
want to follow up without sounding pushy

Follow-up to send

Subject: quick yes/no on the quote
Hi Jordan - quick check on the website cleanup quote.
Should I keep this open for this month, or close it out for now? If it still makes sense, I can hold the Thursday start slot.

Why this is useful

ROUGH INPUT	CLEANER EMAIL DOES
"sent quote last week"	Names the real thread.
"needed to ask partner"	Acknowledges the buyer's actual blocker.
"without sounding pushy"	Stays direct without pressure.
no clear ask	Asks for yes, no, or a next step.

Optional internal note

FIELD	VALUE
Outcome	One email ready to send.
Next action	Paste it into the existing thread.
Risk	Do not send private details in the example.

Alan turns one stuck follow-up into one sendable email. This example uses invented data.